AUTOGRAPH
JOHN MERCANTI
12th CHIEF ENGRAVER, U.S. MINT

PAN has acquired a limited number of 120 American Numismatic Association's, 1989 Pittsburgh Convention Badges. The medal was designed, sculpted, and engraved by 12th U. S. Mint Chief Engraver John Mercanti. PAN has had a long and friendly relationship with Mr. Mercanti from PAN's early beginnings to the present day.

John has hand signed 120 numbered small cards that are placed with each medal in its original box. This is a very special item that we are making available for the first 120 - $50 donations to PAN.

PAN relies on donations in order to promote the hobby of numismatics. Dues and the PAN Coin Show are not enough to carry out the many programs that we do. The generosity of donors is a critical component to allow us to carry out our mission. We do not have a paid staff. Our members travel to many coin shows to advance the numismatic hobby and receive no reimbursement for hotels and travel expenses.

Many may not know, since it was quite a few years now, that PAN was instrumental in the repeal of sales tax on coin and bullion items in the state of Pennsylvania. This was a very expensive and long process that required much tenacity. We are always seeking ways to promote coin collecting. Your generous help is a critical component. Mail your check and we will ship the gift item to you or pay with our "Donate to PAN" page on our website at www.PANcoins.org.
