NEW LOGO

We now have adopted a new logo image after 34 years. The new design was created by PAN members Ben Costello, Rich Jewell, and Tom Uram. The beautiful eagle design was engraved by former U. S. Mint Chief Engraver Frank Gasparro. It first appeared as the bicentennial medal for Philadelphia in 1976. Copyright by Unicover, Cheyenne, WY 82008 and now this medal is copyright by PAN.

We have created advertising cards to promote our fall coin show. Dealers – set them on the counter in your shop to let your customers know where you will be on October 25th – 27th

Coin Clubs – pass them out at your meetings so your members can take advantage of a great buying or selling opportunity.

If you would like me to mail you a stack, then email me at our official PAN address:

ASK AN EXPERT

We have added a new twist to our fall Coin Show, with the cooperation of our numismatic book dealer John Burns. Many times collectors are puzzled by different answers to the same questions. John has agreed to help you sort through the confusion. He has participated and won various numismatic trivia events and has collected coins most of his life. If you are interested in a particular series or specific coin or medal, then John would be able to help you with your questions, collecting approach, and maybe a good reference book to give you the edge and increase your ability to get the most for your coin collecting budget. Many collectors in the Pittsburgh area have known John Burns for many years and will agree that his gift of numismatic knowledge is undisputable. John's table location is in the large room at the rear of the hall. He usually brings a wide assortment of rare and out of print books covering a wide area of numismatics. Stop back and introduce yourself. If he is with a customer be patient and browse through one of the many books he sets out on his table. John touts himself as "America's largest numismatic book dealer" but I have to say that since all the years that I have known him, I have noticed that he has lost some weight.

Collector Tip: humor and politeness go a long way

THE CLARION, our journal

A few words about it!

The Clarion is the official publication of PAN. It is produced three times per year and is on average 40 pages in length. It is mailed to all members that pay yearly dues of $12 per year. Please consider joining PAN if you are not a member. Send an email pancoins@gmail.com requesting an application and I will forward one to you.

Richard Jewell is our editor and has been instrumental in creating a quality product. He is always in need of articles for publication and advertisers to help offset the costs. If you are interested in an ad placement for future issues, then email pancoins@gmail.com and I will forward it to Rich.

The cover of the May issue features "Art That Tells a Story - Get the Picture" by Joel Iskovitz. He views himself as a "narrative artist." It doesn't take but a second to see that in his beautiful work within the pages of The Clarion. Joel's numismatic and philatelic designs are as equally compelling. He has been a speaker at our banquet and PAN Kids Zone at past conventions and has
