

“Rare Coin Basics”

presented by PAN Life Member Pat McBride

Friday May 10th at 12:00pm

Saturday May 11th at 11:00pm

Pat has been involved with PAN since 1984. His talk is geared to those that are new to coin collecting. The presentation is a humorous, self-deprecating look into the mistakes that many make early on when entering the world of numismatics. He will have examples of coin mistakes, cleaned coins, artificially toned coins, and misleading advertising.

He will cover accepted and unacceptable behavior on the bourse floor, coin terminology, small coin shows, large coin shows, eBay, online auctions, grading services, proper handling, storage, reference resources, and more.

If you are in a life position to put a small percentage of your hard earned money into hard assets then this lecture will help to guide you in the right direction.

Please make plans to attend the PAN Coin show held at the Monroeville Convention Center, 209 Mall Blvd, Monroeville, PA 15146

Admission to the coin show is free and the lecture is free. It is not a sales pitch to buy or commit to anything but only an hour of fun and knowledge that may in the long run save you thousands of dollars!
